

Proquis Introduces the Remote Access Portal During a Webinar

Proquis' Remote Access Portal received acclaim from attendees during a recent webinar covering the power of the Proquis Remote Access Portal. Following the success of this webinar, Proquis announces the release of the recorded version for a wider audience.

Proquis, a global provider of compliance management, process mapping and analysis software, announced the early success of the Proquis Remote Access Portal following a webinar highlighting the features and benefits of the portal.

The Proquis Remote Access Portal, commonly known as the Proquis RAP is a unique tool that has been recently introduced in the market. With an aim to provide a solution that integrates compliance within every company's supply chain, the Proquis RAP is designed to help companies enhance communication with suppliers and customers and improve the efficiency of project teams.

The Proquis RAP replaces the conventional approach of sending a supplier / customer communication and outstanding action items lists by e-mails. The traditional approach may take time and administration to process, then transcribe the information and then record it in a central quality system for the audit trail. Through the Proquis Remote Access Portal, communication is significantly both faster and more efficient. This tool provides control and monitoring for such quality related tasks as -

- Document authorization and/or viewing of documents
- Online self-assessment questionnaire completion through the portal interface
- Record actions / plans as part of raised supplier non-conformances

Anthony Amundson, Proquis' Vice President, Global Sales & Marketing adds, "Today's strict regulatory environment and an expanding global network of suppliers and customers, demands an efficient audit trail, quick issue resolution and easy information management. The Proquis RAP is designed to improve communication, make process changes efficient and enhance collaboration between project teams and suppliers around the globe. Since the release of the Proquis RAP, a number of our clients are using the portal as a 'vehicle' to get their supply chain connected within their quality system for key compliance tasks and maintenance of an efficient audit trail. We invite everyone to visit us at www.proquis.com to view and download the recorded introductory webinar - The Power of Proquis Remote Access Portal."

The Proquis RAP is available as an integrated tool within Proquis Enterprise; Proquis' modular, compliance management software. The portal is designed around the industry best practices and introduces features such as easy configuration, customization, secured access and easy access from anywhere in the world. Proquis consultants are constantly working with businesses to help them migrate their supply chain processes to the Proquis Remote Access Portal.
